

Hugh Carr Brown (1814-1902), his wife Matilda Inman Brown (1814-1860?), and 5 children settled in Marshall County around 1846. They came from Nashville, Tenn.. Hugh was the son of David and Elizabeth Anderson Brown. David was from N.C. Elizabeth from Va.. He acquired a large tract of land, believed to be about 1000 acres, in southeast Marshall County. about 3 miles east of Olive. A portion of this land is now owned by Barkley Smith, a great-great grandson of Hugh Brown. Much of Hugh's land is now under Ky. Lake. The 5 children born in Tennessee were : William Washington, Mary Elizabeth, Nancy Jane, Benjamin J., and John D. Two children were born after the move to Ky., James Marshall and Alexander Hamilton. Hugh and Matilda were members of the Disciples of Christ, Christain Church and the Church of Christ, known as the Bethlehem Church; was located on Hugh's property. Later when the church merged with the Fairdeal^{CHURCH}ing of Christ, the land reverted to Hugh's ownership. Hugh also donated one acre for the old Johnston School. It is not known exactly when Hugh's wife Matilda died but after her death, Hugh married Elizabeth Duncan Taylor (1835-1896) . All of their 4 children were born in Marshall County. They were Hugh Calvin, Louisa, Thomas Nathaniel and Josephine. Hugh and Elizabeth are buried in Brown Cemetery in Marshall County off Highway 1364 on land previously owned by Hugh Brown and presently owned by Johnnie Nelson.
